Ple-Enters in Tears.
Walthil Times:
Mell Schmied of the Dakota County Eagle and Mark Murray of the Pender Times are endeavoring to see which can weep most copious tears over their fallen idol. They agree in charging Congressman Stephens' political debacle to the German vote, which is all right. Nobody kicks on the goat since one seems to be necessary. The boys with Pershing over there have quit chasing boches, why not chase 'em over here?
Forward march!
Mark and Mell;
"Damn the Dutch—
Give 'em h—!"

Home Economics Short Courses
A part of the extension work in Home Economics of the Extension Service of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture consists of short courses. Specialists are sent out to give demonstrations and lectures on household administration, food study, and clothing. These courses are usually four days' long, and they may be attended by any woman who pays a small fee necessary to defray expenses of renting a hall, heat, light, etc. This year emphasis is being placed on food study, since food scarcity seems certain to continue for considerable time. Information regarding Home Economics short courses may be obtained from the Extension Service, University Farm, Lincoln, Neb.
